Spiritual food for thought:

"Where the revolution happened without the involvement of the church... it ended with the shedding of blood... We took Jesus at his word and showed that there is more [to life] than money, army, economy and media; there also is God's blessing and power, which changes things without the shedding of blood. No window was smashed; no-one was beaten, tortured or hanged, as is the norm during revolutions. "Peaceful revolution" is really nonsense, as both concepts do generally not fit together in history... But because Jesus' spirit was at work, they fitted together..." (Christian Fuehrer, 1980-2008 reverent at Leipzig's Nikolai church and one of the founders of the Peace Prayers)
